

MONGOLIA OPEN TO INSPECTION

The Mongolia will be open for inspection by the general public until 6:30 this afternoon, and tomorrow morning up to 9:30 o'clock.

These hours are set in order that the vessel may be prepared for a concert and dance to be given this evening in honor of the officers of Admiral's Glass' fleet now in port, and townspeople, to be given by Mrs. Schwerin, the officers of the vessel and the Pacific Mail Company. This will be an invitation affair.

An enormous crowd watched the big Mongolia dock at the Naval wharf this afternoon. The vessel was the largest craft that had ever entered this harbor and she naturally caused the utmost interest. The band was present to attend her and as she came into the harbor, a chorus of whistles sounded in her honor.

The vessel has four decks, three of them being for promenade. She has an extensive amount of space on her upper deck. The vessel has a vast amount of deck room forward and this part of her was crowded with railroad cars for the Orient. The deck was so high above the dock that passengers had to make their exit by way of one of the forward ports. At first appearance she is not unlike the Korea and Siberia but an examination shows that she is very different in many respects from those two vessels.

The vessel has only 5,000 tons of freight aboard and as Purser Rennie said: "You have to get a microscope to find it" the vessel is so big. She was to have received a shipment of 8,000 tons of feed for the Japanese government but, for some reason, this consignment did not arrive. The vessel is declared to be the steadiest craft that has ever come out of San Francisco.

SCOTT GETS A LIGHT SENTENCE

PLEADS GUILTY OF EMBEZZLEMENT AND IS FINED $500—MITIGATING CIRCUMSTANCES.

W. B. Scott, formerly with Bishop & Company pleaded guilty this afternoon to a charge of embezzlement of $1,654 of the money of the bank. Scott said he didn't want any lawyer and was ready for sentence. He appeared to be greatly affected by his predicament. Attorney Magoon was in court and at the request of J. Bachelior a friend of the accused, volunteered to appear for him.

Magoon said that there were many extenuating circumstances. Scott had always held a high position in the community and his dealings with all has had heretofore been entirely honorable.

There is no crime in all the calendar more easily committed than embezzlement," said Magoon, "for it is often committed quite unintentionally by men who use the money of others intending to pay it back."

The attorney further said that Scott had shown himself to be still honorable deep down in his heart, for instead of attempting with able counsel to secure an acquittal he had admitted his guilt and had tried to make reparation. He had sold all his personal effects, obtaining about $600 with which he had paid off all his debts, and he was ready to turn over his other property to Bishop and Company. He had paid $2,000 and it would probably reimburse Bishop and company in full. Magoon said that Scott had friends who would pay his fine if merely a fine were imposed. He said that Scott had already suffered greatly from the disgrace and humiliation. Magoon suggested a fine of $500.

Deputy Attorney General Fleming who represented the prosecution, said he had nothing to say, and the court
